A. CULTURAL RESOURCES: (HISTORIC PROPERTIES / ARCHEOLOGY) - Two archaeological sites are present within the proposed project/easement corridor. The first, 42UT1757, is a segment of the ca. 1912 Salt Lake & Utah Railroad, which carried passengers and freight between northern Utah and Utah Valley. The second site, 42UT705, consists of a segment of the ca. 1901 Saratoga Canal, which provided irrigation water to beet fields in northern Utah County. Both sites are considered eligible for listing on the National Register of Historic Places for their association with persons and/or events which are significant in the region's history. Given that these sites are not considered eligible due to distinctive characteristics of construction or design, nor are they eligible for their ability to yield any additional archaeological data, there are no restrictions related to ground disturbance or other activities relative to these sites.

B. ENDANGERED / THREATENED SPECIES: (STATE / FEDERAL LIST) - According to the Dec 2012 MFR no listed species were observed in the area of the easement.

C. WETLANDS (If present, attach sketch or map and describe mitigation) - No wetlands are identified.
